MILLIONAIRE IS THE MURDERER

Lewis pulled the trigger of a .22 caliber rifle in the exclusive States Villa on States avenue last night at 8:25 o'clock, as Detectives Farley and Totten rapped for admittance on the door of his room.

The shot entered the man's temple and death is believed to have been instantaneous. That Lewis anticipated arrest and made preparations to kill himself is indicated by the fact that the rifle was new.

Lewis was found dead, half reclining in the bathtub, with his feet braced against the head. The trigger of the rifle was still clasped in his hand and the end of the barrel rested against his temple.

Lewis had removed his coat. He was attired in a blue striped shirt, trousers and shoes. The bullet had penetrated his temple. His fingers showed several scratches. On the bureau were several copies of newspapers.

One contained the flaring headline across the front page: "Girl May Solve Model Mystery." Underneath this was a large column out of Maizie Colbert.

Lewis was positively identified by the owners of the hotel. He was 35 years old, married, rather prepossessing in appearance, dark complexioned and said to be a graduate of Yale university. He had little luggage and only $6 and some change in money.

Lewis' name had been furnished the authorities by Misses Ethel and Mabel Kyle, sisters, public school teachers, who said that the young man had taken them home in a taxicab. Elwood Powell, a chauffeur, stated that he had later taken him to the apartment house where Miss Colbert lived.

Lewis twice during the afternoon telephoned to the home of the Kyle sisters. His calls were answered by Miss May Kyle, a third sister, and Lewis, she said, plunged into the subject of the murder.

"What shall I do," he is reported to have said. "Isn't this terrible?" "Did you know the Colbert girl?" Miss Kyle said she asked him.

"Of course I did not know her," he is said to have replied.

"Then why have you not called on the detectives and explained where you were on Friday?" Miss Kyle asked.

"Why didn't you let them know before this?" Lewis is said to have replied: "I thought the easiest way was the best."

Lewis was silent for a few moments and then said, according to Miss Kyle: "Don't worry, I am going to straighten this thing out. I'm going to see a good lawyer and will do whatever he says."

Lewis then hung up the receiver. He called again in a few minutes. It is said, and repeated his admonition that the sisters should not worry about the matter.

BANK EXAMINER IS SUED BY JUDGE AVERILL

Mark R. Averill, district judge of Nye county, filed an action in the Reno district court Wednesday against Gilbert C. Ross to recover on two notes issued in 1911 at Tonopah. The two notes, with interest amount to $750, more advanced on Ross on a straight loan. Ross is a former lieutenant governor and present state bank examiner.

VILLA'S MEN ARE COMING TOGETHER

(By Associated Press.)

EL PASO, Jan. 5.—Emiliano Zapata will be represented by a delegate named Paz at a meeting which is expected to be held in San Antonio, Texas, by Villa partisans to plan a provisional government for the movement being led by Francisco Villa.

It was also reported that Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez was being considered as one of the possibilities for provisional president.

Hipolito Villa, a brother of Francisco Villa, will represent his brother at this conference, it was said, and a number of Villa delegates will attend the meeting. An effort will be made at this meeting, it was said, to have Villa issue a proclamation giving protection to all foreigners and foreign property and conduct his campaign along lines similar to the rules of modern warfare.

At San Antonio, Hipolito Villa, brother of Francisco Villa, denied emphatically that there is to be a conference of Villa adherents to plan for a Villa government in Mexico.

"I have no intention of violating any of the laws of the United States which have given me shelter and there will be no meeting in San Antonio, or elsewhere, in the interest of my brother's campaign in Mexico, with the idea of setting up a government."

"I am reporting each day to the United States secret service agents and I have promised them I will respect the neutrality laws as well as the other laws of this country. I believe my brother is right in his campaign to free Mexico for its people and naturally would do all in my power to help him. But there is nothing I can do, and certainly it is not my brother's or my intention to do anything to offend the United States."

CURIOUS COINCIDENCE.

Story of a Lucky Stone and a Trio of Accidents.

George F. Kinn, the well known gem expert, relates this little story of a lucky stone and the adventures of its owners: "Some years ago a meteorite was given to Edward Heron Allen, the famous writer on palmistry and the violin, and this gifted man always wore it about him. One morning he awakened to find that the entire roof above him had fallen in except just that portion over his bed."

"He told the story to one of the best known ladies in Boston, one who is known for her public spirit, her love of art and her faultless manner of entertaining. This lady successfully urged Allen to give her the meteorite."

"A few days later while out driving a great truck with two runaway horses attached to it struck her carriage. Instantly she raised her muff to protect her face. The muff was almost cut in two, but the lady was not hurt. A few days later while she was walking under some scaffolding it fell, and the open part where the bolts went up proved to be just where she stood. Although surrounded by ruin, she remained unharmed."

Whether the stone was a factor in averting disaster to its owners in their moments of peril is, however, a matter apart from the facts in the case.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

HE KEPT THE TOOL.

And Prized It Because It Had Never Done Dirty Work.

"I was throwing up dirt from an excavation in the pavement one day," said an old laborer, "when a little old chap with white hair stopped to look on. I was as big as two of him. After a minute or two I rested on my shovel and looked up at him. Said I: 'If you had to do work with a shovel for your living you'd starve to death before you could make a trench deep enough to bury you in.'"

"I thought that was a smart thing to say, and I laughed. Then he answered me. He was a slow speaking man with a sort of drawl."

"I might starve—as you say," he said, "and yet I have a trade—in which I use a tool very much like—yours. In fact—many people—who work at my trade—use the tool—to shovel dirt and filth—with—as you do—with—yours. This is—the tool—"

"He handed me a steel pen. 'Is it a joke?' I asked. 'It is—a tool—to—make—them—with,' he nodded. 'That is—part—of—my—trade. My name—is—Twain—Mark Twain.'"

"I have the pen yet," concluded the laborer, "and no dirt was ever shoveled with it."—New York Globe.

Rulers of England.

The first to rule over all England was Egbert, king of Wessex, who united all the various petty kingdoms and became king of England in 827. The greater kingdom was disrupted from 878 to 928 when the Danes ruled north of the Thames. In the latter year King Edgar reunited the kingdom, and since that time it has never been partitioned. Between Edmund Ironside (1016) and Edward the Confessor (1042) three Danish kings ruled all England—Canute, Harold I, and Hardeknute. The first king of Great Britain was James I. (1603). The first king of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland was George III. From the conquest of Ireland in 1172 by Henry II, the kings of England were styled lord of Ireland until the assumption of the title king of Ireland by Henry VIII, and thereafter this title was used until the act of union in 1801. The imperial sovereignty of India was assumed by Queen Victoria.

BASKET BALL TEAMS AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Tonight at the high school gymnasium the teams of the high school will be seen in action for the second time this year against the alumni.

The girls' team of the alumni will be composed of four members of last year's team, which proved to be the best team that the high school had turned out since the school was founded. But the girls of this year's team are confident of proving that the team this year is the best that the school will ever turn out.

Alumni line-up: Fannie Holmes, Lessie Wardle, Gertrude Rippingham, May Kimball, Helen Mitchell and Helen Davis.

The boys' game is going to prove a brand of A-1 basketball, as the high school team is one of the best ever turned out by the school. The alumni is composed of the old stars of the teams of the last several years.

Alumni line-up: Kyle Lutz, Leo Harrington, Tom Dugan, Will Cuddy and Eugene O'Connell.

T. H. S.: M. Pollard, B. Pollard, J. O'Connell, A. Gilbert and B. Murphy.

Korea's Singing Girls.

One of the attractive personages encountered in Korea is the singing girl. At the social gatherings and festivals of the wealthy she serves the guests and then sings, plays the guitar and recites.

These girls, although from the humblest order, are well educated from a Korean point of view, and their services are in great demand. They can be hired singly or in numbers, according to the needs of the host, and they entertain many a feast which, except for their presence, would be simply an excuse for gormandizing, most Koreans being gross feeders.

As religious and social festivals are occurring constantly in Korea, the pretty singing girls are kept busy, no entertainments being thought worth while without their presence.

Don't Know Their Own Names.

The case of a witness at Kingston police court who did not know the name of the thoroughfare wherein he lived could easily be paralleled any day in London's mean streets. More instances have been known where a wife did not know her husband's, and consequently her own name! In the easy going fashion of the poor streets people are known by some short title such as Bill or Ginger. Very well; Lisa from the pickle factory gets acquainted with a young man under such a name and eventually marries the said Bill or Ginger without ever knowing his people's surname. Why, then, should these Bohemians trouble to learn the names of their own streets?—London Globe.

Goldsmith's Obituary Notice.

It would be difficult to find a more quaint announcement of death than that published in an old newspaper in 1774, at the time of Oliver Goldsmith's demise.

"1774, April 4. Died, Dr. Oliver Goldsmith. Described is the village. The traveler hath laid him down to rest; the good natured man is no more; he stoops but to conquer; the vicar hath performed his sad office; it is a mournful task from which the hermit may essay to meet the dread tyrant with more than Grecian or Roman fortitude."

Discovered.

"Who gave the bride away?" asked Mrs. Jones of her daughter, who had just returned from the wedding. "Her little brother," replied the daughter. "He stood up in the middle of the ceremony and yelled, 'Hurrah, Bianca, you're got him at last!'"—New York Times.

Long Way to Go.

Vicar—I'm sorry to hear that you've been quarreling again with your wife, Giles. I know she has a bitter tongue, but I believe her to be a thoroughly gentle nature at bottom. Giles—Mebbe, p'ison, mebbe, but she's terrible deep.—London Answers.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

The feature at the Butler this evening is a Fox production, "Love and Hate," with beautiful Bertha Kalich in a vivid portrayal of a woman's emotions. The famous actress portrays unhappy wife, brought to tragedy by plots of man she despises. Madame Bertha Kalich, foremost tragedienne of the American stage, plays the part of a woman whose home has been wrecked by the intrusion of a man who falls in love with her. The preliminary reel is "A Brass Button Romance," a Christie comedy chuck full of laughs from start to finish. Tomorrow, the local Tonograph motion pictures will be shown, featuring six hundred Tonopah kiddies coming out of the school building. The feature will be Mabel Talliaferro in "The Dawn of Love." There will also be shown a Mutt & Jeff cartoon comedy and a picture called "Animal Speed Analyzed," something never before seen in Tonopah.

A. & B. THEATER

This evening at the A. & B. theater "Lonesome Town" will be presented with one of the best casts of characters known to the picture stage. The story carries the observer to the very end with quick action changes involving a dashing widow who claims an estate and three tramps who also assert an interest and then begin to lay siege to the widow's heart. Then there is the International Weekly of "See America First." Tomorrow, Billie Burke will be seen in "Peggy," produced under the personal supervision of Thomas H. Ince, than whom there is no better master of filmdom. This magnificent spectacle is shown in seven reels. This is a Triangle Kay Bee production.

COASTING BEGINS AT SEVEN O'CLOCK

Chief of Police Grant wants it understood that coasting will not be allowed on the streets before 7 o'clock each evening, as before that hour the danger of colliding with delivery autos and other conveyances is too great for the safety of the youngsters. This rule will be enforced strictly and the chief hopes parents will help him keep their boys and girls from sledding before that hour.

SPEARHEAD BEGINS ON BIG CROSSCUT

COMPANY SAID TO BE IN GOOD SHAPE FOR ENERGETIC CAMPAIGN

A. A. Codd, one of the directors of the Spearhead Gold Mining company, of which George Kernick is president, came over from Goldfield last evening and continued on to Reno this morning. He says the Spearhead is about to begin lateral work from the 930 level reached from the main shaft and will continue to press the drift on the 450 level towards the Wheeler ledge. In sinking the shaft the company went through 25 feet of quartz, but without finding commercial values, as the highest assay was $1.25 per ton. The drift is out 450 feet, passing under the old Wheeler shaft with the intention of picking up the vein in another 100 feet in the course of another month. The Wheeler shaft is only 280 feet deep, but the vein is expected to be picked up on its dip.
